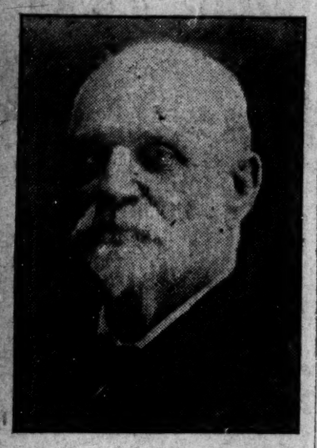
DEATH OF WM. A. SMOOT

One of Alexandria's Most Respected Residents Passes Away at His Home Last Night.

Death claimed one of Alexandria's oldest and most respected residents last night in the person of Mr. William Albert Smoot, who passed away at his home "Colross," at a quarter past eleven o'clock, after an illness of about two weeks, due to the infirmities of age.



William Albert Smoot.

The deceased was born in this city on August 30, 1840, was therefore in the 77th year of his age, and had always lived here. When the civil war broke out Mr. Smoot enlisted in the Confederate army and served four years as a member of the Black Horse Cavalry. Upon his return to Alexandria at the close of hostilities in 1865 he brought back with him his horse and practically nothing else. He shortly after engaged in business in a small way and through conscientious effort and honest dealing had the pleasure of seeing the business grow and expand until his name as a dealer in coal, lumber and other supplies had become known not only throughout Virginia but the adjoining states as well. It is probable that no other firm in this section of the South is better or more favorably known than that of W. A. Smoot and Company, of which he was the head up to the time of his demise.

Mr. Smoot was a past grand commander of the Grand Camp of United Confederate Veterans of the State of Virginia, also commander of Robert E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans of Alexandria; member of the visiting board of the Confederate Home at Richmond and senior vestryman of Christ Church for many years, as well as president of the Columbia Steam Fire Engine Company for some thirty-four years. No man in the city was held in higher esteem by the citizens of Alexandria than was he, as it was known that he always took an active interest in all efforts that were put forth for the best welfare of the city of his birth.

Besides his wife he is survived by three children: Mrs. R. W. Fuller, and Mr. Lewis E. Smoot, of Washington, and Mr. William Albert Smoot, jr., of this city.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 from his late home. The interment will be private.

NO DEARTH OF CHICKENS.

Experts Urge Plan to Conserve Supply of Meat.

A present congestion in the frozen poultry market, shown by figures of the Department of Agriculture, can eb relieved if the retail dealers will handle the goods at a reasonable advance over wholesale prices. This action would make poultry available at prices comparing favorably with other meats, according to the findings of a conference between wholesale poultry distributors and officials of the Department of Agriculture.

An increased use of poultry now, is the opinion of the department, will tend to conserve other meats which are of more importance. The retailers, as well as wholesalers, it is pointed out, should aid in relieving the congestion.

Broiling chicken are especially abundant, and those of prime quality sold in June on the wholesale market in New York at an average price of 22 cents a pound. A year before the average price was 27 cents during the same month.

Board of Aldermen Adopts Resolution to Meet Again on the Second Tuesday in October.

All the members of the Board of Aldermen attended last night's regular meeting. There was, however, no quorum in the Common Council, and President Smith announced that the next meeting will be held on Wednesday night, July 18.

The first business in the Board of Aldermen was the election of a Vice President in place of Jacob Brill, who resigned as a member from the first ward at the last meeting.

On motion of Mr. Robinson Mr. Ballenger was elected to the position by a unanimous vote.

President Marbury then nominated E. M. Anderson as a member of the Board from the First ward. He was also elected by a unanimous vote, and was sworn in by President Marbury.

The new traffic law, which has been before Council during the past few months, and which was laid on the table by the Aldermen at the last meeting, was called up. Upon that occasion, it will be remembered, the Aldermen struck out section 5, which makes it unlawful for dealers in automobiles to place the same in the streets for the purpose of exhibition and sale. The Common Council refused to concur, but insisted that the ordinance should be adopted by the upper board as it came from the lower board. A committee of conference was appointed, but they reported that they were unable to agree, after which the Alderman laid the measure upon the table.

After the ordinance had been read the second time last night Mr. Ballenger moved that section 5 be stricken out, but his motion was lost on a tie vote, as follows: Ayes, Messrs. Anderson, Ballenger, Wilkins and Summers. Noes, Messrs Robinson, Harrion, Fitzgerald, and President Marbury.

Mr. Ballenger then moved that the ordinance be recommitted to the committees on general laws and streets, and his motion prevailed.

During the discussion upon the ordinance most of the members said the passage of laws by Council was a work which accomplished but little, as they were not enforced. Attention was especially called to the practice of some bicyclists of running their machines upon sidewalks, and automobilists paying no attention to laws. Rear lights upon autos, they said, are often wanting, while the law against speeding is more honored in its breach than its observance.

The Aldermen, after having acted upon some measures which will be found in the official proceedings, adjourned.

Whiskey Is Only Remedy

Richmond, Va., July 11.—Reports, from Norfolk are that serious, sudden, and protracted illness has developed in that section since the Federal liquor law became operative.

Negroes are the greatest sufferers, and whiskey is the only thing that has any effect in relieving the alarming conditions that have developed.

Prohibition Commissioner Peters was asked today regarding the matter, making reply that under the laws of the State not more than one quart of liquor can be received by any one person in any calendar month .The fact that the Federal law prevents the shipments of liquor for beverage purposes does not affect the Mapp law, that measure being still in full force and effect.

For instance, if a person shall order one quart for beverage purposes and it is shipped, it is a violation of the Federal law, but not a violation of the State law. On the other hand, if the liquor be ordered for alleged medicinal purposes, not more than one quart can be received by the person in any one month This is the broadest possibe con struction of the law, the physicians being allowed to precribe not exceeding one pint in any one month.

Captain Herbert Young and his assistants are busily engaged in making plans and raising funds for the poor children's outing to be given by the local branch of the Salvation Army July 19. They are anxious to take as large a number as possible, but it depends on the response to their appeal for funds as to how many shall go. The children will be taken to the Dyke, and will be provided with lunch, ice cream and goodies, and a number of races will be staged, with prizes for the winners. Everything possible will be done to give the children a day of unalloyed happiness. There are many children in Alexandria who ever know what a day of real pleasure is, and all who are anxious to help brighten the lives of these little ones should send as large a donation as possible to Captain Young. So far only one response has been received from the appeal published last Friday.

Cossacks Chase Teutons.

Petrograd, July 11—Russian troops under General Korntoff that swept into Halicz are now advancing on Lemberg along the Dniester river.

On the southern side the Russians are now less than sixty miles from the coveted capital of Galicia. On the eastern side they are less than forty miles away.

The German and Austro-Hungarian soldiers are making desperate resistance to the advance of the Russians, especially in the district lying between Halicz and Brzezany, but have been unable to stem the tide.

The capture of Halicz is a success of first rank importance, as that city was one of the key positions defending Lemberg on the southern side. It is about sixty-two miles southeast of Lemberg and is an important railway junction. It is about fifteen miles from Stanislau.

Cossacks are playing an important part in the Russian advance, and cavalry is being used to large extent in the pursuit of the Austro-German armies.

When the Russians broke a gap in the Austro-German line, twenty miles wide, in the southwest of Halicz, Cossacks were being held in reserve and were at once sent forward in pursuit of the retreating Teutons.

Over 15,000 Austro-Hungarian and German prisoners have been captured, as well as many guns.

La Claire Marsteller, of Washington, Philip Marsteller, of Warrenton, and Mrs. Edmund Gray, of "Mount Sterling." May be Picked by President.

Either President Wilson or Secretary of War Baker may draw personally the "key" numbers that will call out the first 685,000 by conscription, according to a Washington dispatch in the New York World.

Major Gullion, assitant to Provost Marshal General Crowder in preparing the draft plans, would not officially confirm this report, however, he said he had not been advised that it had been definitely decided the President or Secretary of War should conduct the drawing.

Announcement of the date and final plans of the drawing are held up by delay in receipt of reports from local exemption boards in New York city. These reports are expected in the next twenty-four hours.

Only about half the men selected, it is expected, will be required to serve. Why the estimate is so high became apparent when it was announced today that the physical standard would be practically as rigorous as in the regular army.

Through a draft net with meshes so large many thousands must escape.

The regulations for the physical examinations, as approved by Mr. Baker, have been mailed to 4,500 physicians and surgeons atached to local boards.

Amsterdam, July 11.—The German government was reported today to have agreed to retire five of the Prussian state ministers in addition to Foreign Secretary Zimmermann, Vice Chancellor Helfferich, and Colonial Secretary Solf, in a compromise with the Centrist-Socialist reformers.

This is the first time the name of Dr. Solf has been brought into the German rumors of cabinet changes. He is a strong conservative.

HOLLWEG IS DEFIANT

German Chancellor Says His Country Must Have Annexations and Indemnities.

Zurich, July 11.—Late dispatches from Berlin state that the National Liberal party, formerly the staunchest supporter of the government, held an executive conference Monday evening, at which it was decided unanimously to demand the resignation of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg.

The Berlin Bourse was considerably distressed all day today on account of the political crisis.

Copenhangen, July 11.—"I repeat that the formula of peace without annexations is unacceptable to us. We cannot declare our terms of peace. We must fight and conquer." This was the long expected declaration of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Chancellor, to the Reichstag, according to dispatches from Berlin.

London, July 11.—It is reported in Amsterdam, says the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company that the resignations of D. Karl Helfferich, the German vice chancellor and secretary of the interior, and Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, the German secretary for foreign affairs, have been decided upon by Emperor William.

Zurich, July 11.—A Basle dispatch last night quoted the Vossische Zeitung, Lokal-Anzeiger and Tageblatt as energetically requesting that the government adopt a policy for an early peace without annexations and indemnities. The Kaiser, according to a Berlin dispatch, presided over several meetings of the Crown Council in Berlin yesterday. The last of these sessions was held yesterday and it is said to have been of great importance.

The National-Liberals at an executive meeting unanimously decided to demand the resignation of the chancellor.

From Vienna came dispatches showing increased eagerness on the part of the Austrian Emperor to conciliate the Austrian Slavs. The Czechs, Poles, and Young Slavs, it is reported, will have strong representation in the new cabinet.

Copenhagen, July 11.—A German arriving here from Berlin makes the statement that the purpose of Herr Erzberger, the Catholic Centre Party leader, in making his sensational speech before the main committee of the Reichstag on Saturday, was to secure an abandonment of the submarine campaign as well as the proclamation of a peace program without annexations or indemnities.

The majority in the Reichstag has been practically formed on the basis of these demands which it was thought would align America and Russia for peace and powerfully influence France and England.

It was said the same majority has been secured for a demand for the institution of a Parliamentary Ministry with Dr. Gustav Strasemann, Nationalist, and Phillipp Scheidemann, as candidates for portfolios.

ATTACK GERMAN CRUISERS

Planes Bomb Vessels Near Constantinople—Big Explosions Occur.

London, July 11.—Direct hits on the German cruiser Goeben were made in an aerial attack against the Turko-German fleet in the Golden Horn, according to an admiralty announcement.

The attacking squadron of aeroplanes suffered no losses.

Direct hits were observed against other ships and big explosions occurred, the admiralty said.

"The enemy was completely surprised," the statement added. "Our attack was from a height of 800 feet."

TORRENTIAL DOWNPOUR

One of the Heaviest Rains of the Season Deluges City Between Four and Five O'clock Yesterday

About four o'clock yesterday afternoon banks of dark clouds gathered in the western and northern heavens, and later a heavy rain drove nearly everybody, to shelter. While the wind did not reach a dangerous velocity, it sent the rain in horizontal sheets through the streets, congesting sewers and in some sections flooding cellars. The lightning which accompanied the storm was vivid and the crashes of thunder were heavy. Some hail fell during the disturbance, and the mercury dropped considerably in a short time. Another heavy rain fell early in the night.

The damage in the city was not serious. A pole of the electric railway at Mount Vernon was struck by lightning and shattered.

The storm was severe north of Alexandria, and advices from different sections of Maryland are to the effect that much damage resulted. Baltimore and places contigious thereto were hard hit by the storm. The lightning was terrifying, and although no one is reported as having been killed, the electric fluid caused no little alarm and in some places panics.

Baltimore and Anne Arundel counties suffered the brunt of the storm. Crops were badly damaged by the rain, the wind and the hail, the hailstones in certain parts of the counties being as large as marbles.

Two hundred persons working on the sixth floor of the Miller Building, at the southwest corner of Eutaw and Franklin streets, Baltimore were thrown into a panic when lightning struck the flag pole atop the structure, shattering it to splinters.

The workers on the top floor were considerably excited, and several women screamed, but all were quieted within a short time.

The storm was also severe in Philadelphia.

Sailor Writes Concerning Sweaters and Other Things Contributed for Comfort of Men on Ships.

Apropos of the call of Mt. Vernon Chapter, D. A. R., for assistance in making knitted articles for officers and sailors of the battleship Virginia, the following extract from a letter recently received from a young naval officer, now serving on a destroyer in the war zone, may be of interest as showing the appreciation with which similar articles sent by the Navy League have been received.

"It has been pretty chilly for the past month and the fur lined reefers which we all wear are very comfortable. The day we sailed from the United States of America numerous articles which had previously been sent aboard by that very creditable and much appreciated Navy League were distributed among officers and sailors alike. Men who stand bridge and lookout watches received knitted caps one hand-made sweater, one manfactured sweater, two pairs of knitted socks, mufflers and wristlets. I can't find words to express the appreciation with which I received my share of the things, and those were the sentiments of every one else. It is doubly appreciated by those living in their clothes as we do. You have no idea how proper clothing increases the efficiency of the whole outfit.

"A cold numb man is not an efficient one. The amount of work which must have been put on our sweaters, mufflers, socks, etc., by the wonderful women of our country is appalling, judging by the length of time I see some girls working on sweaters. When you stop to think of things like this it brings home forcibly that it is a great honor to serve not alone our country, but even a greater honor, if such were possible, to serve and if necessary give your life for the women of your country."

GATHERED TO THE FATHERS.

Alexandria is again called upon to mourn the loss of one of her most prominent and enterprising citizens, one who during the past half a century has formed part of the pulse of our community. William A. Smoot is no more, the Good Shepherd having closed his eyes in death at a late hour last night. While his demise is felt acutely by those to whom he was near and dear many Alexandrians will mingle their tears with them.

Once a friend always a friend, he never forgot a kindly act upon the part of any, and many instances could be produced to show that his friendship rose far above empty words.

We will mention one which affected the entire city. A dozen or more years ago a strike in the coal regions of Pennsylvania caused great anxiety. Winter was at our doors and many empty coal bins were in our city. Most dealers in this commodity had slim stocks and prices were almost doubled. People were purchasing stoves in which to burn wood during the winter, while others were relying upon oil stoves. William A. Smoot, at that time, had huge banks of coal at his yards at the foot of Princess street. Washington dealers visited his place and offered to take his entire stock at prices far above those which had prevailed a few months before. They offered to remove the coal in barges at their own expense. It was a tempting bait. Here was an opportunity to make several thousand dollars without any exertion upon the part of the deceased, but he immediately turned his back upon the offer, and later announced that coal, in sufficient quantities, could be purchased by Alexandrinas, from his yards at prices prevailing during the summer. He was an Alexandrian ex animo, and scoffed at the thought of taking advantage of the people among whom he had been born and reared.

The biography of William A. Smoot is known to all old Alexandrians. He was born in what was for many years known as the "Smoot residence," on the north side of Wilkes street, between Royal and Pitt, and always claimed that he was a "Tunneltowner." He had barely entered early manhood when the war between the states broke out and he became a cavalryman in the service of the late Southern Confederacy. During the four years' conflict he was dangerously wounded, and at the close of hostilities returned to his old home, his property consisting, in the main, of the horse upon which he rode while a soldier. He embarked in mercantile life in a small way, and by his genius and untiring energy, built up a business in Alexandria of which any one should be justly proud. He proved to his fellow-citizens that enterprises could be as successful in Alexandria as anywhere else if the proper men held the ribbons.

For over half a century Mr. Smoot had followed the fortunes of his native city. He was with her in her troubles as well as when in her silver slippers.

While active and prominent in business circles, he was equally so in other matters. He had been President of the Columbia Steam Fire Engine Company for many years, and Commander of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans, and no one will miss him more than these organizations for which he worked assiduously.

As stated above, when once a friend he was always a friend. Believing in the purity of the principles of the late Southern Confederacy, he never surrendered them, although they have long since become memories to others. Disappointed as he was at the collapse of the confederacy, he never lost his love for the "Lost Cause," and during the remainder of his life declined to take any part whatever in politics.

When a Hebrew prophet was whisked to the celestial regions in a chariot of fire his successor exclaimed, "the chariot of Israel and and the horsemen thereof!" While this may not be said in a general sense of the subject of this notice, it can be by many who justly esteemed him, and especially those organizations of which he was so long the pulse.

WANT LAWS ENFORCED.

As will be seen by the proceedings of the Board of Aldermen last night, most of the members expressed themselves in unmistakable terms concerning the lax manner in which laws of the city are enforced. Statutes which have been in the code for years are ignored by many in this city, and the Aldermen took the ground that their labors are unnecessary if they do not have the undivided support of those who are empowered to enforce laws.

The interchange of opinion was caused by a discussion of the propriety of making it unlawful for dealers in automobiles to place machines in streets for exhibition or sale. It was alleged that present statutes concerning automobiles are ignored in many cases, and instances were recited where autoists place their machines in the streets after dark minus rear lights. It was also alleged that bicyclists are often seen riding on sidewalks in defiance of a law which has been in the city code for at least twenty years. The speed law, it was also alleged, was being violated all the time.

Other cases were cited in which it was averred that certain laws seemed to be more honored in their breach than observance. The statutes forbidding the sale of toy pistols, fire works and explosives it was said are violated on every Fourth of July and Christmas season. The non-enforcement of the compulsory sewer tapping law was also cited.

Attempts have been made for many years to bring about a codification of the city laws, and it seems that the work is about to be accomplished. When this volume shall have been published it will be seen that it contains many ordinances to which but little attention is paid by many in Alexandria.

Complaints are often made of the violation by certain people of city statutes, and the time has come when the city fathers are openly expressing their disappointment at present conditions, and it is hoped that those who are authorized to enforce the laws will adopt the words of the signal hoisted by Admiral Nelson before the battle at Cape Trafalgar. The British admiral wanted every man to do his duty, and it should be apparent that in conducting the affairs of a community that it is incumbent upon all in authority to do their part.

KAISER'S WEAK-KNEED ALLY

The great success of the present Russian drive in Galicia shows that General Brusiloff and the military authorities at Petrograd have a thorough knowledge of the weak spots in the enemy's line. The weakest spot is clearly that part of the front held by the Austro-Hungarian troops. This was demonstrated last year, when the Russians bagged nearly half a million prisoners in their victorious advance. Already since July 1 they have taken over 25,000 more, and the movement has hardly more than started.

The Philadelphia Record in referring to present conditions says such imposing figures clearly indicate that the armies of the Dual Monarchy are putting up only a half-hearted resistance and that they surrender on very slight provocation. And in this there should be nothing surprising. The only entirely loyal troops in the armies of the Empire are those of German and Hungarian stocks. The Slavs, Croats, Czechs, Ruthenians, Poles and the many other contingents of this polyglot army are more in sympathy with Russia than with Austria, and probably throw down their arms on the least possible excuse. Indeed, some Czech regiments are now fighting on the Russian side in the belief that Austria's defeat will hasten the day of Bohemia's freedom.

A vigorous Russian offensive, pushed on without fear of betrayal by reactionary elements at Petrograd, may easily prove the last straw needed to effect Austria's complete collapse. With her armies disaffected and her people torn by internal feuds her position is certainly perilous. So far Germany has been able to stiffen her backbone. That she can continue to do so indefinitely seems most unlikely in view of the gathering storms that threaten Germany herself. If Russia succeeds in beating Austria to her knees the end of the war cannot be much longer postponed.

HOLLWEG'S DEFIANCE

Germany is standing at the point of critical decision for itself and for the world. The United States is viewing with vast concern the attitude of its enemy. Upon the victory of the forces of reform or the forces of reactionarism depends whether the United States will spend years in a war the outcome of which is predetermined, but the cost of which in money and blood would be staggering.

The man who has the supreme word is the Kaiser, and under him his minister. Nothing could better point the necessity for reform in Germany to make safe the world for democracy than the spectacle of autocracy that is presented if the dispatches quote the Chancellor correctly.

They state that the Lokal Anzeiger, of Berlin, says that the German head of state told a committee of Socialists the policy of no annexation and no indemnities is both dangerous and impossible. He is also represented as saying that heis opposed to this program, because it failed to alienate Russia from the war. Therefore he holds that there is nothing to do but fight the war out to the last gasp. As the Baltimore American observes, his logic is characteristically German. It appears well nigh incredible that Betnmann-Hollweg should make such a declaration. But, if authentic, the citations from him point to the fact that Germany realizes that without indemnities it would be ruined anyway. The United States will view the decision as one of infinite madness upon the part of a country whose defeat will be the vastest tragedy in history if it fights to the last gasp.

SHELLS RAIN ON U-BOATS

Torpedoes Passed Both Ahead and Astern of Ships With Pershing's Men, Says Navy Fireman

Cincinnati, July 11.—A thrilling narrative of the attack of U-boats on the transports conveying American soldiers to the battle-front in France is given by John M. Welch, a first class fireman on the battleship Utah, one of Uncle Sam's finest, which accompanied the troops across the hazardous war zone. Welch was on duty on the deck of his ship as it stood between the undersea boats and the transports bearing the troops and saw the American gunners put the enemy to flight. He headr the roar of big guns over and around him and saw a rain of shells around the spot where periscopes had been sighted.

"It was a wonderful sight," said Welch with pride. "I shall never forget it. Our ships went into action so quickly that it seemed but a minute or two from the time the periscopes were sighted until broadside after broadside was being fired at them. The boys on the transports seemed to enjoy the sight immensely. They cheered us over and over and seemed unmindful of the danger which lay beneath them. I know the officers of my ship heaved a sigh of relief when the smoke rolled away and a count of the ships showed that every one still was on top. Americans showed that they know how to fight and they will show the European armies some real fighting when they get into the battle line."

Welch said torpedoes passed ahead and astern of the transports, as given in dispatches from abroad.

STORY OF THE MURDER

Cocchi Gives Graphic Description of Ruth Cruger's Horrible Death.

New York, July 11.—Ruth Cruger fought until her last breath against the terrible fate that was meted out to her by Alfredo Cocchi. Even when her slayer was beating her to death she resisted with almost the strength of a Samson. Semi-conscious, she combated the furious assaults made upon her by her slayer.

These startling facts were recounted in Cocchi's confession, which was received by Police Commissioner Woods and District Attorney Swann yesterday from Bologna, Italy, where the slayer is in prison.

Cocchi stated in his confession that he had never seen the high school girl until the day she brought her skates to his motorcycle shop on the morning of February 13. She told him she would call in the afternoon for them. Cocchi says that then and there he made up his mind. When she returned for the skates he made advances. She repulsed him, stepping back to the door of the store. He and the girl were alone in the shop.

"I grasped the girl by the shoulders," said Cocchi. "I drew her to me and began to kiss her. She began to scream for the police so loudly that I choked her and jammed my fist against her mouth. I tried to rip her clothing off. She was so strong and resisted so that I was not even able to tear her dress. She fought to the last. I threw her down heavily, her head striking the floor. She was stunned, but not unconscious. She continued fighting, dazed as she was. In my fury I dragged her to the trap door and dropped the half conscious girl through. She landed head first on the concrete floor ten feet below.

"With my right hand," the confession reads, "I grasped a stick of heavy wood. The girl's remarkable vitality came to her rescue for a moment. She struggled to her knees, her hands raised in piteous appeal to protect herself. Three times I struck the child as she thus fought for life and honor."

Then followed a description of the effect of the blows. Very slowly the girl's body crumpled. Then, ever-decreasing moans issuing from her lips, she became still.

"I then buried her," continues Cocchi. "There was no difficulty. I took the body, still warm, and threw it into the cavity in the left-hand corner of the cellar. I shoved it in head first and pushed by the legs and only put a box over the cavity, no dirt."

EMPLOYEES ENTER PROTEST

"If We Do Not Object to Overtime, Why Do Outsiders?" Woman Asks

Nine hundred employes of the bureau of engraving and printing attended a mass meeting in the lunch room of the bureau building in Washington last night and voiced vigorous protest against the order of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, which tomorrow will eliminate all overtime work in the various branches of that institution.

"We want to do our bit," declared one of the speakers, a woman. "If we do not object to the overtime, why do outsiders object? We object to being characterized as slaves."

"The overtime pay that is to be taken away from us, if this order goes into effect, would help us pay for the thousands of dollars of liberty bonds that he have obligated ourselves to buy," said another woman.

There was no mistaking the feeling among the workers who attended the meeting. They were not at all thankful to the apparently well meant, but what they considered the ill advised efforts of Representative Jeannette Rankin, of Montana, who started the agitation that now has taken away from them a part of their employment.

GERMANS THROWN BACK

Their Famous "Shockers" Fail to Budge French From Chemin-des-Dames.

French front in France, July 11.—The French troops holding the sector of the Chemin-des-Dames, to the south of Filain, although drenched to the skin and mud-covered from head to foot are full of confidence and cheerfulness. They have just repulsed an attack of the most formidable nature, in which the Germans sustained shocking losses, without obtaining more than a temporary foothold in these constantly contested positions.

The sector in question comprises the Pantheon farm, astride the Chemin-des-Dames, and is menaced at all times because of the domination of it by the ancient Fort de Malmaison, which is in the hands of the Germans.

SPOT CORN BRINGS $1.90

Carload Sold For New Record Price in Baltimore and Bidders Anxious to Get Grain.

Baltimore, July 11.—A car of spot corn sold at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at $1.90 a bushel. This is the highest price ever paid for corn in this market in the memory of the oldest traders. It revives the old slogan so common when corn was more of a food product than it seems to be at present, namely, "Corn is king."

This cereal certainly seems to be the king of farm products in all markets, as the price is at the top range and the undertone strong. The price which this lot brought and which other cars would have sold for had they been available, is higher than new sample wheat brings and is only 30 cents a bushel less than the quoted price for graded wheat. This the grain merchants regard as a novelty.

A local grain dealer, who is also a successful farmer, said he had sold during the day 100 barrels of corn at $9 a barrel. This is unshelled corn and is equivalent to $1.80 a bushel, as five bushels of the unshelled corn make a barrel. It is admitted that old corn is scarce, while the demand for it has been steady for some time in this and other markets. This influenced the price.

Exporters are said to be in need of corn to fill orders, though it is not thought that they are willing to pay this top price. Some buyers were ready to take offerings on this basis, however, and $1.90 a bushel was bid at the close.

SENATOR DIES OF CRUELTY.

Home Dynamited, Aged Man Falls in Snow.

Paris, July 11.—Details reached this city yesterday of the terrible death of Charles Sebline, an aged senator from the Aisne department, last winter in territory occupied by the Germans. It was not until the Germans were driven back in the present offensive that news of Senator Sebline's death became known here.

The Germans, despite the fact that the senator was lying helplessly ill, dynamited his house, cut down all the trees on his place and blew up the farm buildings. Then they placed M. Sebline and his wife in an open cattle car. In this they traveled five hours through a heavy snowstorm. The train finally halted and the aged pair were ordered to walk the remaining two miles to a town. M. Sebline fell helpless and died in a few minutes. His wife's petition to be allowed to pray at his side was denied.

VIENNA SEEMS THE KEY.

Action of German Clericals Inspired by the Austrians.

Zurich, July 11.—Six influential representatives of the Centrist party in Germany went to Vienna last week, where they conferred with leading members of the Austrian aristocracy. Immediately after their return, according to a summary of the German political situation issued from here, friends of Matthias Erzberger, the Clerical leader in the Reichstag, began strong opposition to Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Simultaneously the South German National Liberal newspapers, particularly the Meunchener Neueste Nachrichten, abandoned their pan-German policy and energetically demanded democratic reforms.

It is added that the key to the situation seems to be Vienna.

Sunday, as he was returning from church in Heathsville, in his car, Lawson Headley was shot by two unknown negroes. He had met them walking in the road, where they refused to get out of the way, and when forced to get out, they fired on Mr. Headley with a rifle, striking him in the back of the neck. The wound is not considered dangerous. The negroes are in jail at Heathsville and the people are highly incensed.

The election of Fred C. Harper, of Lynchburg, as grand exalted ruler; the unanimous choice of Atlantic City, N. J., as the 1918 convention city and the adoption of a resolution pledging the support of the 475,690 members of the order to President Wilson "in this time of trouble," were the chief matters disposed of at yesterday's session of the grand lodge at the annual convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at Boston.

Marvin Culp, 14 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Culp, was drowned yesterday at Fredericksburg. He went swimming with several boys and in attempting to nave a companion in deep water he went beyond his depth and sank before help could reach him.

Justice Crutchfield yesterday did what he could toward breaking up the gangs of Richmond newsies who make night hideous with their noisy announcements of "extra," when there is no extra paper. He fined James Jones, a clarion-voiced newsboy, $5 for disturbing the peace and quiet of the city.

NEGROES SLAIN BY GUARDS.

At Least Two Shot at Policeman's Order in Race Riots.

East St. Louis, Ill., July 11.—Two negroes were shot and killed by Illinois Guardsmen in the rioting here July 2, it was testified at the secret session of the Coroner's jury Monday, according to information today. This testimony was reported to have been given by Colonel E. P. Clayton, who was in command of the troops. The negroes were killed on order of a police sergeant, who said they had fired at policemen and soldiers, according to the report of the testimony.

A man arrested by Captain O. C. Smith, Company F. Fourth Illinois Infantry, was released by the police, according to the captain, who asserted he heard the man say.

"I've killed my share of niggers today. I have killed so many I am tired and somebody else can finish them."

When Captain Smith went to the police station yesterday to prefer a formal charge he found that the prisoner had been released.

DRIVE I. W. W. FROM TOWN.

Those Why Defy Order to Leave Loaded on Train and Removed.

Jerome, Ariz., July 11.—Hundreds of miners and citizens, some with rifles and others with pickhandles, started at sunrise yesterday to "clean" the town of miners whom they considered undesirable as the result of a strike called Friday by the metal miners' branch of the Industrial Workers of the World, which members of the international union repudiated.

Most of the Industrial Workers apparently learned of the proposed organized "drive" and left town last night. Those who remained offered no resistance today, and 67 were herded together, searched and loaded into cattle cars. The train then was started for Jerome Junction, 27 miles away, where it was intended to unload the prisoners.

Dog Bite Causes Hydrophobia.

Mount Carmel, Pa., July 11.—Arthur Carl, twenty one years old, was taken to the Fountain Spring Hospital today, suffering from hydrophobia.

His condition is favorable for recovery provided there is no recurrence of convulsions.

About three years ago while playing with a pet bulldog Carl was bitten under the right eye.

He was stricken with the disease and lapsed into convulsions last night.

Peking Likely to Fall.

Richard B. Davis, assistant attorney general of Virginia in the administration of Governor William Hodges Mann, died Monday night at his home in Petersburg. He was in the seventieth year of his age.

A site on New River, near Radford, is one of the eleven suggested by the army board as the location for the proposed $20,000,000 nitrate plant, which will be erected by the government.

GERMANY TO LIBERIA.

Will Present Her Bill After the "Happy Issue of the War."

Publication by the State Department of Liberia's note severing relations with Germany revealed that Germany is threatening to hold smaller powers liable after the war for any daamge done now to German interests.

The Liberian note says that relations between the two governments are severed "in spite of the veiled threat made by the acting imperial German consul in his published statement on the twenty-first of April, to the effect that powers of the third and last importance will be held to strict accountability for all damage done to German interests, the bill for which will be presented and payment thereof enforced, after the happy issue of the war."

During an altercation with a negro employed on the farm, Sunday afternoon, Henry Stokes, aged about twenty years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stokes, of Green Springs, Louisa County, was shot and instantly killed, the ball penetrating the heart. The shooting occurred on the farm of Mr. Willis, of Rapidan, a brother of Dr. H. S. Willis, of Gordonsville. The negro murderer is still at large.

THAT CROWN COUNCIL.

The German Public Worried Over What Took Place at the Kaiser's Powwow.

London, July 11.—The Crown Council called by Emperor William was held in Berlin yesterday, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam today, but no announcement as to what took place at the gathering has been made.

"The German public is very uneasy regarding the absence of news as to the decisions of the Crown Council which the Emperor held yesterday," says the dispatch. "Only in times of greatest stress are such meetings held."

Other advices from the same source say that the meeting of the Crown Council lasted three hours, being one of the longest on record since July, 1914, when Emperor William signed the mobilization order that preceded the declaration of war.

The ministers of both the empire and the kingdom were in attendance, together with the members of the Emperor's military and naval cabinet.

It is believed, says the dispatch, that one of the results of the council will be the introduction of a franchise bill for Prussia granting universal, direct suffrage and the secret ballot.

DIZZY SPELLS

Relieved After Taking Two Bottles Of Cardui, Says Tennessee Lady.

Whitwell, Tenn.—Mrs. G. P. Cartwright, of this place, writes: "About four years ago the dizzy spells got so bad that when I would start to walk I would just pretty near fall. I wasn't past doing my work, but was very much run-down.

I told my husband I thought Cardui would help me, as a lady who lived next door to me had taken a great deal, and told me to try it. This was when we were living in Kentucky.

My husband got me a bottle and I took it according to directions. It helped me so much that he went back and got me another bottle. I got a whole lot better and just quit taking it. I got over the dizzy spells. I took no other medicine at that time nor since for this trouble. No, I've never regretted taking Cardui.

I felt just fine when I finished the second bottle."

Purely vegetable, mild and gentle in its action, Cardui, the woman's tonic, may be the very medicine you need. If you suffer from symptoms of female troubles, give Cardui a trial. All druggists. NC-129
